„We are at the beginning of the second decade of the 21st century. From as far as we can remember the years at the beginning and the end of a century were considered to be the transnational years and were „special and particular“ ones...Just think about the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus (1492), the French Revolution (1789)...We are living in a world of changes and in a world that is constantly changing...Are we ready to react in a creative and constructive way to all this changes? Are we ready to make changes starting from ourselves?...What are the skills, the competences that the modern man has to have to be ready to react, search and find the correct answer to the changes? Inspired with this question, a group of open minded and motivated teacher of Adult Education Institution Dante started to create the course seminar Learning and Teaching: Interaction through senses...”
